WEDNESDAY AUGUST 3, 1859. Pencil Notes of a Tour to the White Mountains of New Hampshire.

VI. We left Crawford's at eight o'clock in the morning. The road continues to run northward for some distance, and tile scenery of the same wild character. But we are soon shut in by dense forests on either side of the road. We then verge more to the left, come to open fields, houses, villages. We ascend to the Bethlehem hill, and behold a broad fertile vale, farm houses and ore! ards and the pretty village of Littleton, one of the Stations of the Montreal rail-way lying at the bottom of the valley. We keep to the left in a half circle, nearing the Franconia range, and enter the narrow winging vale, the scenery becomes still more, and yet more beautiful, and wonder and delight are increased until we draw up at one o'clock in front of the Profile House in the "Franconia Notch." This is a fine Hotel, with every appliance for luxury and comfort. Within a mile of the House, are the old man of the mountain, the basin, the mirror, the easende, Echo Lake, and other objects

After passing a night in this magnific m spot, and visiting these scenes made so familiar by our artists, we take stage in the afternoon at three o'clock, for the Flume, the pool, and the Flume House, which is five miles from the Profile House, in a southerly direction, and here wonder and delight are increased tenfold. The senses are overpowered, and imagination left far behind. We feel that we need a week to enjoy the Flume, another for the pool and its neighborhood. We regret only that we must tear ourselves away from this delightful mountain region. To day we take stage at eight o'elock again for the railroad at Plymouth, and then to the trains, where we find a boat ready to convey us to Centre harbor, on Lake Winnisisankee, so celebrated for its beautiful scenery. We are now at the Senter House, looking down from its piazza on the mirror-like surface of water surrounded by hill and forest.

MR. CHOATE'S ADDRESSES .- The Bos-MR. CHOATE'S ADDRESSES.—The Hoston Courier of yesterday states upon the very best authority that the 'enterprise of editing Mr. Choate's works has been undertaken by his own family, for the benefit of the estate; and that a complete collection of his various literary productions will be published at as early a date as possible, in conection with a biography. The Courier adds the hope that this statement will serve as a sufficient intimation to any who might have contemplated the collection of Mr. Choate's works, as a mere literary speculation; and that his estate, not of itsell large, may thus have all the benefit of a posthumous publication of his writings.

The belles of Saratoga at the present writing are from the West. Three young ladies, called the "Red, White and Blue," from the color of their evening dresses, are quite pretty, and do great credit to the West. Tall, fair, and good natured, they seem to go into the mazes and joys of the "oponing season" to them, with a heartiness that is suggestive of the strength of the Mississippi. They seem to have adopted Wesley's motto—"All at it, and always at it."

Our town has certainly taken the lead this year in real estate sales. While it has been impossible in other localities, quite as near to Providence, to get a company of bidders together, a large number of house lots, have been sold on both sides of the bridge here, and at fair prices. This activity in real estate, and the number of new dwellings which are seing erected, and the decided improvement of many others, augur well for the growth of Pawtucket.—Pawtucket Gazette.

One of the old habitnes of Saratoga One of the old natures of Saratoga Springs, now there, is a wealthy planter from Arkansas, named Walworth, who has been blind for several years. He is accompanied by a retinue of servants and attendants. Last year he made his will here, and bequeathed some $250,000 for charitable objects among his other leaguests were ble objects; among his other bequests was ble objects; among his other requests was the sum of $50,000 to the State of New York towards founding a hospital for the blind; if the State should refuse to accept it, it is to go to the State of Michigan and if not accepted by Michigan, it is to go to THEFT.—The grist mill at Folly Landing, between Greenwich and Apponaug, was broken open on Friday night of last week, and three barrels of flour and about week, and three parrels of flour and about twenty bushels of corn belonging to Will-iam Yanghan, were stolen therefrom. The thieres emptied a quantity of hay send up-on the floor and took the bags containing on the most and cook the mage containing it to carry off their corn in, as it was more convenient for freighting in lags than in bulk. It is supposed that the thieves came by boat as the grain was taken from that part of the mili nearest the landing.—East Greenwich Pendulum.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Will not be Convinced.

Our neighbors of the Mercury, judging from the tenor of two articles which have ap-peared in that venerable journal within three weeks past, are slow to believe, where such belief would affect facts which they do not wish to believe. The following appears in their issue of the 30th ult.:

wish to behave. The following appears in their issue of the 30th ult.:

The News will insist that our horbor is filling up, and refers to a few of the up-town wharves and an isolated instance of the landing of a European cargo of coal from a vessel not adapted to the business in which she was employed, to prove its statements. While we freely admit the truth of the case to which it has referred, we deny in toto the interinces which a stranger would be very apt to draw from the facts as they have been stated by the News; as, unexplained, their tendency would probably affect the interests of some individual, and in some measure the whole community, by leading strangers to infer that our herbur is becoming useless. We therefore reference the fact, that little or no difficulty is experienced by our own vessels, whether buated or light, in coming to or departing from the wharves; and if there are some few of the up-town wharves at which the water is becoming too shoat to answer the purpose of their owners, they have a remedy which we feel assured they will apply when there is a necessity for so doing, and of which they ought to be the judges. But as to any filling up of the harbor, so as to do us a permanent injury, there is no foundation for such an assertion, and we desire to propound a question to our frien: to test the proposition.

Should those who have the direction of the affairs of the Leviathan, desire to make New-will find a deposit of mud, sand or gravel adhering to the bottom; draw off the water and fill up again as herore, and the deposite will be increased; if you persevere a sufficient leagth of time, you will find the tank or hogshead gradually fill up until it reaches the brim; it might take months, or even years, but such a result will be sure to follow. This, we argue, is precisely the case with our inner harbor. Take a boat and go out into the harher after any rain-storm and you will find on examination, that the water is thick with mud. What becomes of this mud! There is no tide to sweep it out of the harbor. Yet it disappears in a few hours, and the water resumes its wonted clearness. We contend that it settles to the bottom and shouls the water. If the Mercury can give us any reason why it does not, we would like to see it brought forward.

Now to the question: We do, sirs, believe that the "Levinthun," or as you say, hundreds of Levinthaus, could be accommodated in our outer harbor. In conversation, a few months since, with an old pilot on that very subject, he expressed to us that the Leviathan could not reach any wharf in Newport by a number of feet depth, except the Permanent Wharf us Fort Adams, where there was amply sufficient

Should those who have the direction of the affairs of the Leviathan, decire to make Newporther stopping place on this side of the Atlantic, could we not accommodate her with an abundant depth of water? and can our contemporary, even with the most vivid flight of his imagination, suppose there ever will be atmost we our larbor will not afford a sufficient depth of water and room not only for one Leviathan, but for hundreds.

We do not hesitate to answer the question propounded by our neighbors of the Moreury, but Usfore doing so, we will endeavor to illustrate cur theory by a plain, common sense comparison. Take a hogshead or tank and fill it with riley water; wait until it active and the water becomes clear, and you will find a deposit of mud, sand or gravel affility to the bottom; draw off the water.

Sore Throat Plague and Sore Throat-This quality of seizing hold and causing the expulsion of depraved humors, is possessed by no other medicine than BRAN-DRETH'S PILLS. They operate only upon the tissues involved in, that is affected by the disease. In fact, they seize upon those humors, not so much from preference as from natural affinity, because their life is below that of the surrounding parts, and which settling on the tissues of the throat, that is, around the throat region, produces sore throat, sore throat plaque, and the severe headache and fevor. Within an hour after four or six pills are taken, there is felt a peculiar ercepius in the part affected, a sort of collecting up of the diseased humors ready for expulsion. No burt or weakening effect can ever arise from their use, because they cannot act upon heathly parts. Taken carly they prevent all organic discases. Oh, how important in sickness, to use that medicine which only extinguishes the disease, and leaves no evil effects behind. Sold at Dr. Brandreth's Pprinciple Office, No. 294 Canal street.
